About the Artist

Anne C. Brink is a Christian artist looking forward to exploring the relationship between art, prayer, scripture, and worship with the Wesley community. She hopes to be involved in Chapel and classes.

She graduated with an M.A. in Theology and the Arts from Union Theological Seminary – Twin Cities, so she knows what it's like to be a seminary student. From her experience, she hopes that her class and her presence on campus can help students learn to use art as a powerful tool for truth-telling and self-expression. She values the many uses of art in the local congregation and looks forward to sharing that knowledge.

Her artistic approach usually begins with a Bible passage or theme and a time of prayer. She will then sketch or write the ideas that come from that meditation. Color then gets added to the outline. Anne tends to use bold, vivid, bright colors because color allows her to express the infinite array of emotions available to her.
